FIVE NEW MARITIME TOURISM ROUTES CONNECT OUTLYING ISLANDS TO MAJOR PORTS

Transportation Minister Chen Shih-kai launched the "2025 Blue Highway Ocean Sightseeing Carnival" with five new maritime routes to promote in-depth tourism to Taiwan's offshore islands, aiming to integrate ocean tourism into daily life. Routes will operate from July to September, linking Kinmen, Matsu, and Penghu with Keelung, Hualien, and Tainan, including a Keeling-Ishigaki Island line for international travel by sea. Travel options include independent trips, group tours with agencies, and even a self-driving sailing service, offering diverse packages for both domestic and international tourists seeking a unique midsummer travel experience.

PINGTUNG LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN TO REVIVE TOURISM SECTOR

Facing its worst tourism slump in decades, Pingtung County is organizing back-to-back concerts and cultural events, including the Hengchun Heat International Music Festival, to revive interest in popular areas like Kenting and Haikou. While large festivals have drawn crowds, local businesses worry about "concert fatigue" and diminishing returns. Many suggest diversifying with events like stargazing or indigenous culture celebrations, which offer broader and longerlasting appeal. Hotels in Kenting report low occupancy and soaring costs due to typhoons, inflation, and outbound tourism. Operators call for stronger, sustained government support and targeted stimulus to rescue Taiwan's southern tourism industry.

U.S. INTRODUCES NEW VISA INTEGRITY FEE

Starting October 1, 2025, the United States will implement a $250 Visa Integrity Fee for most nonimmigrant visa applicants, excluding those from Visa Waiver Program countries. Paid upon visa issuance, the fee is in addition to existing charges like the Form I-94 fee, which has increased from $6 to $24. However, travelers may also be able to get to fees reimbursed, according to the provision. Critics warn the fee could discourage travel ahead of global events like the FIFA World Cup and Olympics.
